

Cock-a-DOUBLE-doo
Theres DOUBLE pleasure
Too—
For every smoker
Everywhere
Who rolls his own with Chantecler!

A Radio Renaissance?

The radio audience in Western Canada which has suffered expensively for some considerable time, and in recent months in inarticulate silence outside the home, has at last some reason to hope that some of the disabilities under which it has been suffering are about to be removed, or at least ameliorated.

The grounds for these hopes are based on the recent public utterances of Major W. E. Gladstone Murray, the import general manager of the comparatively new station, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, successor to the erstwhile Canadian Radio Commission, on the occasion of his first trip to the west since his appointment, which coincided with the re-organization of the CBC.

A year ago radio columnists in the daily press were filled with lamentations and the gnashing of teeth of radio fans whose complaints of interference, inadequacy of programs and other causes of dissatisfaction with the status quo swelled into a diapason of discontent.

At the time of the formation of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, a reciting set it appeared that very little heed was paid to his complaints and little or nothing being done to remedy them and that the only reply to his expressions of annoyance was to double his contribution to the commission for the privilege of listening in to what he did not want to hear.

At that time the chorus of complaint seemed to have died down somewhat but that there was no concern in official quarters that discontent had disappeared. It would be more correct to diagnose it as a demonstration of tolerance on the part of the Western radio public—a desire to give the new governing body an opportunity to study defects and disabilities in the hope that they will be able to remedy them and give the radio fans something better than their present fare.

As intimated at the outset, there is some reason to hope, in the light of Major Murray's statements that something is going to be done, and in the near future, to give Western Canadians a better break in the radio field than they have had hitherto.

In the time since Major Murray's public comments were entirely devoid of any information as to what steps will be taken precisely to remedy long-standing complaints but the general tenor of his published remarks indicated that he is fully aware of the causes of discontent on the prairies and an intimation that something is going to be done in an effort to more nearly meet the needs of the licensees in this section of the Dominion was contained in the interview.

The mere fact that recognition is given to the existence of complaints is half the battle and engenders a reasonable hope that solutions of some of the major problems are to be found within a reasonable time.

The following extract from one of his interviews shows that Major Murray has given some thought to some of the chief causes of annoyance to Western Canadian radio users:

"Major Murray expressed great interest in the difficulties of Western Canadian listeners to obtain their favorite United States programs through blanketing of the southern stations by Canadian ones. He hoped a new alliance between the CBC and the United States stations would come to Canada, from the world conference on wave lengths to be held in Cairo in 1938. That conference likely would be preceded by regional conferences."

"Despite the existing wave length agreement between Canada and the United States, no agreement existed with Mexico and considerable difficulty was met in getting the C.R.C. manager also express his awareness of the situation of local listeners in obtaining their favorite Canadian programs because of local programs by stations in their area.

"Major Murray said the average radio listener wanted variety with a fair measure of better class music."

"He announced the intention of the C.R.C. to take part in a scheme of exchange programs with the English-speaking United States. He mentioned particularly programs developed between C.R.C. and N.B.C. It was, he felt, for Canadian program producers to widen their experience through visits to other countries and to let Canadians know what was being done elsewhere."

While the statements made by Major Murray do not by any means cover the entire ground, the very fact that he is quickly assimilating the causes of difficulties and objections in the west, is to say the least encouraging and his attitude indicates that he is anxious and willing to meet the wishes of the western audience, insofar as it may be feasible.

Has Acres Of Nuts

Ontario Man Grows Over 300 Varieties On His Farm

Michigan can grow any type of nut that is produced anywhere in the United States, Europe or Asia, according to George H. Corson, of Ithaca, Tompkins County, who was in Detroit with 300 varieties to be shown the Boy Scouts. Corson, 77, has 20 acres of nuts on his Ithaca farm and says that over 300 varieties are growing. English walnuts to paper shell pecans and from chestnuts to the hybrid of pecan and old-fashioned hickory nut.

"Nuts always bring good prices," Corson said. Years ago, Corson was swimming instructor at University of Toronto.

In the profane lexicon of the inconsiderate driver, there's no such verbiage as "Pardon me."

Crippled Girl Is Clever

Blind For Years She Operates Typewriter And Plays Bridge

One of Ontario's most remarkable young persons lives in Tavistock. She is Lucile Lemp, "Babe" to her friends, blind, unable to walk and having normal use of only one finger on each hand. Her stamp is "S.A." She can write on a typewriter, read a telephone, switchboard, read and write Braille, compose poetry, play an autoharp and enjoy a game of bridge.

When she was two years old, a sprain was noticed in one of her toes. The toe was removed on medical advice, but this failed to halt the progress of a severe type of arthritis which spread through her body, crippling limbs and totally destroying eyesight.

Her typing is done on a special machine made about three years ago by her father, who does woodwork for his hobby. The keys are covered with brass caps in which are raised Braille characters to indicate the letters. Miss Lemp can write in Braille and found they gave me relief from pain and I felt better in every way. I paint, draw, knit, sew, do embroidery work, and shall keep up the daily dose of Braille because I can do nothing else. I can't see, but I can feel any way for the worse," S.V.C.

When the internal organs cease to do their work, the body accumulates waste in the system, and cause troublesome symptoms. Kruschen, however, has a special diet and excretory organs healthy, regular activity, and thus assist them to the system of harmful impurities.

HIS BACKACHE WAS UNBEARABLE

Kruschen Brought Him Relief From Pain

This man of 31 was prematurely aged by backache which he should have been enjoying the best years of his life. Here tells how Kruschen relieved him of his pain in a matter of moments of pain:

"I was in hospital for ten weeks, owing to kidney trouble. When I was discharged I felt like an old man, although I am only 31. If I wanted to stand up, I was afraid to strain myself. Several people advised me to take Kruschen tablets and found they gave me relief from pain and I felt better in every way. I paint, draw, knit, sew, do embroidery work, and shall keep up the daily dose of Braille because I can do nothing else. I can't see, but I can feel any way for the worse," S.V.C.

When the internal organs cease to do their work, the body accumulates waste in the system, and cause troublesome symptoms. Kruschen, however, has a special diet and excretory organs healthy, regular activity, and thus assist them to the system of harmful impurities.

Coronation Medals

Plans For Official And Local Souvenir Announced In London

The British minister of health, Sir Kingsley Wood, recently dispatched an official circular to local authorities informing them of the revised arrangements for the coronation medal officially approved by royal command.

The royal mint is to produce an official medal which will show the King's effigy on one side and the Queen on the other. The motto "God Save the King" will be on the reverse side.

There will be two classes of medals struck by the trade in this country.

The first will bear the officially approved double effigies of Their Majesties on one side, with matching portraits of the Queen on the other. They will be described as medallions of Their Majesties.

The second class will have both sides designed by private medalists, but arrangements have been made under which the portraits of Their Majesties upon them may be "approved by the Federation of British Industries." Commemorative medallions will be issued in conjunction with the deputy master of the royal mint; and they may then be sold. Supplies of all three classes of medals will, it is anticipated, be available by April at the latest.

SELECTED RECIPES

CALIFORNIA BREAD

Temperature: 450-350 degrees F.

Time: About 1 hour.

1 cup milk; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 table spoon yeast; 1/2 cup flour; 1/2 cup fresh yeast; 2 tablespoons lukewarm water; 1 cup Royal Household flour; 1/2 cup candied orange peel, chopped; 1/2 cup walnuts, chopped.

Method: Soak milk; add sugar, shortening and yeast. Add yeast and mix well. Add Royal Household flour and 1 cup Mead flour; mix thoroughly; cover and let stand until the yeast is spongy. It is stiff enough to knead. Turn on floured board and knead until smooth. Let rise. Divide in four equal balls; drop in bread mold; in bulk; in knot and waitants. Shape into a loaf and waitants. Stand on a loaf and waitants. Let rise. Bake in a hot oven; reduce heat and continue baking; 35 hours. Entire time for making this bread is approximately 35 hours. Recipe by Mildred Anne Macdonald, Copyright.

EGGLESS MAYONNAISE

3 tablespoons evaporated milk

2 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar

1/2 teaspoon mustard

1/2 teaspoon pepper

1/2 teaspoon paprika

1/2 teaspoon salt

Chop the dry ingredients, add the milk and gradually beat in the Mayonnaise, then add the vinegar and beat until smooth. This dressing will keep indefinitely in a cool place.

Printed In Error

Beehive Jubilee Color, Collector Makes New Profit

A young stamp collector made a profit of about $1,200 on 250,000 bee skeps that were printed in error. The mistake he bought the rest of the sheet and two other sheets. Then he approached a syndicate, which bought the stamps at 45¢ ($225) apiece.

The Sahara desert is spreading southward at the rate of a half mile a year.

Skiariks have been introduced in America on several occasions, but each time they soon die out.

Move Alienates Sweden

Hitter's Decision About Nobel Prizes

Sweden Angry Good Feeling

Chancellor Adolf Hitler's decision forbidding Germans to accept Nobel prizes in the future created a more unfavorable impression in Sweden than anything that has happened in Germany since the fall of Altona, 1934. By a stroke of the pen Hitler has swept away most of the good-will toward Germany built up by Dr. Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, in the last few years.

The official German explanation is scented and it is said that the mere fact that the Nazi government has taken such a stand should not be interpreted as meaning that the prizes still constitute an important link between Germany and the outside world.

Even during the World War the work of the German Nobel laureates which awards prizes in science, physics, chemistry, medicine and literature, was not interrupted, and Swedes remember with pride that they did not let the Nazis stop the work of the great scientists of Germany, who were prevented from leaving the country.

Since 1961, when the first prize was awarded, nearly a quarter of all the prizes have gone to Germany.

Build Planes In Canada

Big Boost To Canadian Aircraft Industry Is Anticipated

A big boost to the Canadian aircraft manufacturing industry is anticipated shortly as it is understood that if the Royal Canadian Air Force estimates are approved orders for 100 bombers will be placed within this country. At present the Government plans to purchase more than 100 airplanes of various types. British designed aircraft will be built under license in Canada.

At the same time airplane factories will begin to work to meet the unprecedented demand for fighting aircraft to Great Britain on a parity with continental powers, firms here will be hard put to find room to accept orders from this side.

A short time ago Australia was compelled to place orders for aircraft in the United States owing to this reason.

The Ideal Man

He does not speak evil of others, even his enemies, unless it be to themselves. He bears the accidents of life with a quiet spirit, and in the heat of his circumstances, like a skilful general who marshals his limited forces with all the strategy of war. . . . He is his own best friend and takes delight in helping others, who are in his own vice or ability in his own worst enemy, and is afraid of solitude. Aristotle in The Ethics.

London is the world's best-directed city, says a German expert.

In snake-infested areas, hogs are used to eradicate the reptiles.

Any soil that will produce good garden crops will grow good roses.

TO EASE SORE THROAT PAINS QUICK

Crush 2 "Aspirin" tablets in 15 grains of water.

Take 2 "Aspirin" tablets with full glass of water.

As soon as you feel yourself catching cold, follow the modern treatment. Your doctor, we know, will endorse it. This will give you instant relief from soreness and soreness. The "Aspirin" tablet will ease your fever, cold pains and the cold itself.

• "Aspirin" tablets are made in the Baye Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario.

Demand and Get— ASPIRIN

Tribute To British Design

Foreign Air Ministers Think "Planes In Britain" Best In World

British aircraft manufacturers are anticipated shortly as it is understood that if the Royal Canadian Air Force estimates are approved orders for 100 bombers will be placed within this country. At present the Government plans to purchase more than 100 airplanes of various types. British designed aircraft will be built under license in Canada.

A big boost to the Canadian aircraft manufacturing industry is anticipated shortly as it is understood that if the Royal Canadian Air Force estimates are approved orders for 100 bombers will be placed within this country. At present the Government plans to purchase more than 100 airplanes of various types. British designed aircraft will be built under license in Canada.

Lord Swinton, secretary of state for air, recently said: "The British aircraft industry is about as good as it can be."

A short time ago Australia was compelled to place orders for aircraft in the United States owing to this reason.

The Ideal Man

He does not speak evil of others, even his enemies, unless it be to themselves. He bears the accidents of life with a quiet spirit, and in the heat of his circumstances, like a skilful general who marshals his limited forces with all the strategy of war. . . . He is his own best friend and takes delight in helping others, who are in his own vice or ability in his own worst enemy, and is afraid of solitude. Aristotle in The Ethics.

London is the world's best-directed city, says a German expert.

In snake-infested areas, hogs are used to eradicate the reptiles.

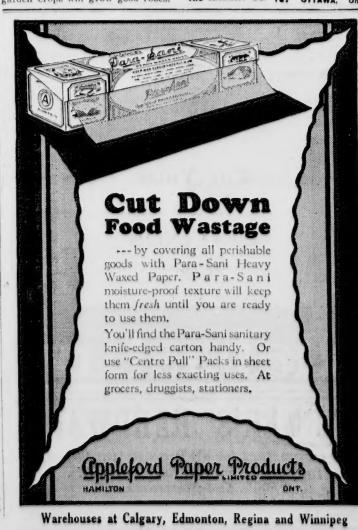

Any soil that will produce good garden crops will grow good roses.

PATENTS

Patent Office Grants Red Fire Foxes

Full Information Red Fire Foxes On Request

The RAMSAY Co. Ltd. 273 BANK St. One

Cut Down Food Wastage

...by covering all perishable goods with Para-Sani Heavy Waxed Paper. Para-Sani moisture-proof texture will keep them fresh until you are ready to use them.

You'll find the Para-Sani sanitary knife-edged carton handy. Or use "Centre Pull" Packs in sheet form for less exacting uses. At grocers, druggists, stationers.

Be Particular

PURITY FLOUR

Best for all your Baking

FPC 36

Buenos Aires is the third largest city in the New World.

2191

Skylarks have been introduced in America on several occasions, but each time they soon die out.

Quick Relief FOR STUFFY HEAD

VICKS
VATRO-NOL
for
Nose & Throat

Used in Time, Helps
Prevent Many Colds

Just a few drops,
and you breathe easily
again. Va-tro-nol
clears congestion,
reduces swollen membrane—brings well-
come relief.

Thou Shalt Not Love

A NOVEL BY —

GEORGIA GRAIN

CHAPTER XVI.—Continued

And where did this mysterious note fit into the mad scheme of things? Someone else knew the secret of her impotence, she was sure. And that small touch of the Hebrew writing. It must be someone who had been watching her, since those terrible days in Egypt. Someone who knew! That was a disquieting thought. Why?

At the time of the opening of the tomb, newspapers all over the world had printed the story of Tut-Amen-Ra and the famous curse. They had referred to it as a curse, rather than a curse, than other curses which have time and again been found in other tombs. They had made this story one with a touch of romance, of how Tut-Amen-Ra was reaching out from the grave to protect the priestess he loved.

But all that was such a long time ago! Surely everyone by now had forgotten... Except Starr Ellison, who had such good reason for remembrance.

It had been sensational news at the time, but sensational news dies quickly. Starr did not believe there was a soul alive who had not been re-called to the girl who had so brilliantly跨過 the horizon of New York's night life, the supposed author of a ribald sensational book, as that other haunted creature who had fled from Egypt in terror.

Somewhere in her mind, though, or been waiting all the time. For now she was discovered. Someone who might tell Michael!

As she lay in bed that night, drawn from her living room into the bedroom, Starr, looking into the mirror, saw with her own eyes how she had changed. Facing her was not the woman who had tramped around barefoot in a cowboy hat with her bottomless. Here, once more, was the girl who had indigoed in a restless round of parties in an attempt to forget her dread of the unknown. As that same woman who had taken sleeping powders at night to dull the agony of that ever-present "Thou Shalt Not..."

She cried out defiantly to that slender, frightened girl-woman in the mirror:

If You're Told to "Alkalize"

Try This Remarkable

"Phillips' Way

Thousands are Adopting

On every side today people are being urged to alkalize their stomach. And thus symptoms of "acid indigestion" are removed.

To gain quick alkalization just do this: Take two teaspoons of PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA OR take two Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets, which are equally effective.

Belief comes almost at once—usually in a few minutes. Nausea, gripes, flatulence, and all forms of "acid indigestion" pains leave. You feel like a new person.

You will be surprised at results. Get either the liquid "Phillips'" or the remarkable, new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. They go to work fast, go to work hard, go to take and easy to carry with you. Only 2½ a box at all drug stores.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:

Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a full glassful of purifying Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

MADE IN CANADA

PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA

to make a sacrifice like this, for Michael's sake.

Something she managed to get into her hands and pocketed. It was his daughter's day off and she was alone. That was well. She felt as if she were incapable of ever again making any lying excuses, in words. She sat down at her desk and sent off a telegram to Michael. He never knew that she had written it with her heart's blood. It was a brief note, ending up crudely with: "...so it was all wrong, you see. Our marriage was to have been a plaything, a game. I was thinking it could turn out well, I am sailing for Hawaii with Lance Marlowe this morning. Forget me, Starr."

Tears sealed the envelope. Now Michael would not look for her!

Starr went out into the Egyptian restaurant, without a single thought, to the place in which she had known so much of joy and of tragedy, to finish her battle alone.

CHAPTER XVII.

A young woman sat in a comfortable chair in the doctor's office, facing the sun that streamed through the blue-velvet-curtained windows and made warm patches on the rug. The branches of the tree outside swayed with the wind.

The girl-woman who sat there quietly while the pleasant-faced physician examined him, his hands moving over the patient's thin, slim, quiet creature, with delicate features above the deep collar of her throw-back fur coat. Features like a cameo carved out of ivory. She was very pale, but she was a delicate, nervous girl, not a stout, fat, middle-aged housewife, her face flushed beneath her thin, dark hair, frayed from beneath a small black belt that tip-tilted over one eye.

Her eyes were the most striking feature, which was most unusual. Her eyes were a pale, pale blue, like the sky, and she seemed within her vision. Beautiful, long, black eyes that had a hint of the exotic as of some other race in them, but they burned with a bright, unnatural light, as though they had looked upon the stars. Her mouth was a thin, tight line, her lips thin, her teeth white, her hair dark, her skin pale.

Starr's heart was suddenly beating like a trap hammer. She gripped the arms of her chair, staring at the tall, gray-haired doctor.

"I'm sorry I told you—"

"I smiled a little wryly, his eyes studying her.

"I started to tell you," he recited slowly, each word boring in "that you were to live another six months. In my opinion, you are still out of your mortal depressions, come down to earth and realize that you were living in the Twentieth Century. Your own mind of knowledge was yours. Your eyes were all mine to see. You were the same within."

When she spoke, her low, cultured voice sounded like a distant bell. "I'm sorry I told you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last, and to know it with the least delay.

"I don't suppose you'll remember," said Dr. Morgan, "but I told you some time ago—"

"September. You told me then that I hadn't six months to live. So much of my time is already gone, and I feel there was a mistake, as it was in giving me too great a lease of life."

"I want you to tell me truthfully what chance I have—how much longer I can expect to live...?" Her voice was brave, her carriage gallant, but her words fell like a rain of pitiful petitions.

The doctor looked deep into her haunted eyes. He said slowly:

"I remember. I recall you quite well, though I have not seen you since you came within my sight. You were a young girl, but you didn't have words to say that Egyptian tomb... ."

He shook his head. "What a place to take a sensitive young girl! Not, of course,

I mean that quick as he saw a flash of redness in her eyes, something to which you could cling, something to which you could hold on, something to which you could stick."

"I wanted to manage to tell you—"

"I wanted to advise you to the last

THE CHRONICLE, CHAMPION, ALBERTA

The Champion Chronicle

L. A. STARK
Editor and Publisher

Thursday, February 25, 1937

Correspondence for the Chronicle must bear the signature of the writer, otherwise it will not be published, otherwise it is ignored and thrown away. This week we received a request to publish an article, the item was written in block type and no signature; consequently it is not published.

The District Conference of Alberta Women's Institute which was to have been held in Lethbridge March 4th and 5th, has been postponed until April 1st and 2nd, owing to the condition of the roads in southern Alberta. Mrs. E. H. Freeze is the official delegate from the Champion branch.

Dr. DAVID NICOL
DENTAL SURGEON
In Champion Friday only

HERBERT J. MABER
SOLICITOR, HABERSTER, NOTARY
VULCAN

At U. S. Alexander's office
every Thursday

F. G. Beaumont, Barrister of Carmangay will be at the Chamber office every Tuesday morning

How is Your Subscription?

CHAMPION GROCETERIA

Conner's Herrings, tomato sauce, 14 oz. 2 for 35c
Clover Leaf Pilchards, tall tins, 2 for ..... 25c
Polly Prim Sweet Mixed Pickles, 26 oz. jars 35c
Cattelli's Eggcoat Noodles, 8 oz. pkt. 2 for 25c
Texas Grape Fruit, large and juicy, each... 10c
Buckeye Rollored Wheat, 5 lb. sacks, each... 35c
Ontario Cheese, matured with a nip per lb. 22c
Fancy Stamen Winesap Apples, per case. $2.80

Fresh Celery, Lettuce, Sweet Potatoes,
Turnips, Carrots, Etc.

E. LATIFF

Phone 14

BARGAIN FARE
CENT-A-MILE
to
BANFF
AND RETURN

RETURN FARE
3 45
From CHAMPAIGN
Going MARCH 5-6
Return Until MARCH 8, 1937.
GOOD IN COACHES ONLY
Apply Ticket Agent

Canadian Pacific

FOR Better
SEED GRAIN
See Our Agents
THE ALBERTA PACIFIC GRAIN CO.
MEMBERS CROP TESTING GROUP

PIONEER GRAIN
COMPANY LIMITED
OPERATORS OF
COUNTRY ELEVATORS
LICENSED & BONDED
DISCUSS YOUR GRAIN
HANDLING & MARKETING
PROBLEMS WITH OUR AGENT
M. F. HAMILTON
Agent

For Printing that has
that different touch get it done at the

Chronicle Office

Local & General

Andrew Fath is a patient in the local hospital.

Rev. T. B. Winter was a champion visitor Tuesday.

Mrs. Steve Fath was a week end visitor in Calgary, visiting with her daughter, Helen.

The Champion Ladies' Social Credit group will meet at the parsonage on Tuesday, March 2.

Mrs. R. S. Bond was a week end visitor at the home of Mr. F. Clever.

Born—To Mr and Mrs. Louis Goves at the local hospital, on Thursday, February 18th, a son Born—To Mr and Mrs. John Hartung, on Sunday, February 21st, a daughter.

Born—To Mr and Mrs. Fred Steeves at the local hospital, on Tuesday, February 23rd, a son

Born—To Mr and Mrs. Fred Steeves at the local hospital, on Tuesday, February 23rd, a son

Miss M. Spankie entertained the members of the I.O.D.E. at the home of Mrs. Alexander on Friday evening.

"The Ghost Train," a play sponsored by the I.O.D.E. has been cancelled till a future date, which will be announced later.

A Hill, who has been a patient in the local hospital for the past three months, returned to his home at Travers on Sunday.

Mrs. P. Patterson, who has been visiting at Kirkfield, returned to Champion where she has been the guest of Mrs. Watts for a few days.

M. F. Hamilton is complaining bitterly of the discomfort caused by the cast on his left arm, but from all appearance is making rapid progress toward recovery.

Residents of the subdivision are practically buried behind an avalanche of snow. When shovelling becomes profitable, undoubtedly there will be plenty of work moving snow.

Mrs. James Walker was a guest on Friday, complimentary to her guest, Mrs. Roy Walker of Ponoka, who is leaving shortly by motor for Vancouver.

Art. Wang, who has been working at Goodright's is a patient in the local hospital, having undergone an operation for appendicitis on Thursday of last week and is progressing nicely.

Rev. Peter Dawson, M. L. A. and son Earl were home for the weekend. Mr. Dawson accompanied by Earl, returned to Edmonton on Sunday, to attend the pre-session caucus as well as to take up his new duties as speaker of the legislature which opens on Thursday.

M. F. Hamilton received painful injuries to his right hand on Monday when loading cars. While assisting his helper to close the car door his hand was caught between the door and the car, crushing it badly. It seems Hummie is having his share of troubles these days.

Card of Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity of heartily thanking everyone for their especially kind and thoughtful expressions of friend-hip extended to us during our recent illness, also to Dr. Freeze and nurses Roy and Ireland for their very kind and competent care.

Mrs. F. Clever.

EAST WORK

Most anyone can be an editor. All an editor has to do is sit at his desk six days in the week, four weeks in the month and twelve months in the year, and "edit" such stuff as this. Miss. Anna East Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry.

Josh Smith wants to sell a good cow that gives two gallons of milk at every milking and a lot of household and kitchen furniture."

Municipal Minutes

The regular monthly meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Harmony 128, was held in the Municipal office, Thursday, February 4.

All members of the council were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read, and an motion of Councillor Ellis, same were approved.

(Carried.)

The Secretary presented the regular monthly statement, and an motion of Councillor Matlock, same was adopted. (Carried.)

Secretary presented a resolution to the Department of Lands and Mines, in respect to future procedure on Crown Grazing Leases. Councillor Hopkins moved that this request be carried with, and that the Secretary copy the same to the various, as specified in the communication from the Department.

(Carried.)

Secretary presented a petition from the business men of the Village in respect to opening roads, the Council discussed this for a considerable time and arrived at the following decision:

(1) That the Municipal District has and is prepared to undertake this proposition.

(2) That owing to adverse crop conditions, the Municipal District has not the available equipment to undertake this proposition.

(3) The Council feel that providing the Village of Champion, also the Champion Consolidated School District, would help to encourage such undertaking, they would be pleased to submit same to the rate-payers for their decision, at the annual meeting which was held on February 11th, it being noticed that only one Municipal Taxpayer had voted the petition.

A discussion arose in respect to deduction from Seed Grain Liens by local grain companies for advances made to farmers. Secretary was instructed on motion of Councillor Ellis, to turn over all correspondence from the Department in this regard, to L. H. Stack at Vulcan, to take whatever action is necessary to collect these accounts. (Carried.)

Important News for Our Readers

Here is an opportunity that you will not want to miss. We are offering a yearly subscription to The Champion Chronicle and The Calgary Herald (both) for $8.00.

You need your own Home Town Paper to keep you in touch with local affairs. And a yearly subscription to The Champion Chronicle and The Calgary Herald will keep you in touch with world wide news. A yearly mail subscription to The Calgary Herald costs about $8.00.

You need both these Newspapers. Get them both at this low combination rate.

Just fill in your name and address in the coupon below and send with $8.40 to The Champion Chronicle.

The Champion Chronicle,
Champion, Alberta.

I accept your special subscription offer of The Champion Chronicle and The Calgary Herald. Please send me The Champion Chronicle to be delivered to me one year from date. The Calgary Herald to be mailed daily for one year from date. Enclose $8.40 in full payment.

Name _____

Address _____

Accept This Special Offer Now

BIG SHIPMENT NEW SPRING GOODS

Mello Suede Slips 1.10
Small, medium, large, each

Rough Crepe for Blouses .59c
Trimming, etc., white, per yard

Elastic Girdle, 2 way .98c stretch, small, medium, large

Terry Towelling, colored .19c
for hand or roller, per yard

Paper Napkins, fancy .15c
5 to 7 dozen in bundle, each

Cotton Crepe, 36 inches .25c in all shades, 2 yards for

Chintz, new spring pattern .22c
Fast colors, 36 in per yard

White Elastic, 1-4 inch .15c
6 yards for

Water Glass Sets .85c
in rose each

Jam, Apple and Strawberry .42c
4 lb. pail each

Fresh Dates .29c
3 lbs. for

Peanut Butter .48c
quart gem sealers each

Apples, McIntosh Red .25c
Fancy 3 1-2 lbs. for

Blue Chambray Shirts 1.00
G. W. G. all sizes each

Dress Shirt with attached 1.00
collar, 14 1/2 to 18

Men's Ties .25c
in great variety each

Donegal Tweed Caps .10
Smart styles each

Police Braces, strong for .50c
everyday wear per pair

Boys' Socks .23c
sizes 8 to 9 1/2 per pair

Boys' Storm Rubbers .89c
sizes 1 to 5 per pair

Brown Jersey Gloves .15c
for boys and girls per pair

G.W.G. Bib Overalls .125
for boys, heavy quality pair

Rice, No. 1 Jap .25c
3 lbs. for

Castile Toilet Soap .15c
Jergens per bar

Bath Towel .69c
Witch Hazel and 1 towel for

Pure Honey .53c
No. 5 pail each

Phone 34

McCullough Bros.